MR. FELLOWS'S TURN His Counsel Declares He May Not

Put In Any Evidence.

Eeastingly Asserts There Is Nothing for Him to Defend.

Ex-Judge Van Hoesen Comes in as Atterney for the Colonel.

Refore the hearing of the charges against District-Attorney Fellows was resumed this morning, there was a discussion among the German-American and Good Government Club men about the testimony last evening of Judges Fitzgerald and Cowing.

Judges Fitzgerald and Cowing.

Although neither of them made startling statements, the prosecutors argued that even the admission by the judges that the business of the courts often is delayed because of the District-Attorney's inability to present cases for trial, is proof of negligence on his part.

The theory of the defense has been that delay in prosecutions is due to the small number of courts to hear cases, and spectators were puzzled this morning to know if Col. Fellows would try to prove that Judges Cowing and Fitzgerald were mistaken.

Among the first to arrive at the trial-ald were mistaken.

Among the first to arrive at the trialroom were the Good Government Club champions, Tucker, Welling, and McMahon. They were to meet the defense of Col. Fellows to the charge that he was negligent in the prosecution of homicide cases.

Mr. Phillips, at the beginning of the hearing to-day, put in evidence certain documents in the Carrere case, showing that Col. Fellows personally asked for a dismissal of the indictments for forgery and larceny.

a dismissal of the indictments for forgery and larceny.

He also presented the records of the police court to show that there was evidence sufficient to warrant a prosecution. Mr. Wellman's letter of resignation, and Col. Fellows's answer showing that there had been an agreement that Mr. Wellman should be allowed to continue his private practice, were put in evidence.

Chief Clerk Unger testified that there were over 500 untried cases left over by District-Attorney Nicoli, and that there are 325 prisoners in the Tombs, of whom Izl are indicted.

Mr. Unger was asked if he had prepared a list of untried cases, showing which are for felony and which are for misdemeanor, as he had been instructed to do.

misdemeanor, as he had been instructed to do.

Mr. Unger gave the same old excuse, that he had tried to do so, but didn't have time.

"I submit," said Mr. Phillips to the Commissioner, "that we should not longer be trifled with.

"The District-Attorney has practically refused to furnish information which you directed Mr. Unger to get."

"And I have noticed," broke in Mr. Sutro, "that instead of trying to get that information, Mr. Unger has remained with Mr. McCurdy, seemingly taking part in the defense, instead of being at his office."

"I have my clerks at work on the books," said Mr. Unger, "but there are other matters of real importance which the clerks must also attend to."

"This investigation is of importance," remarked the Commissioner.

"Of the greatest importance," said Mr. Sutro.

"Well, may be it is," remarked Mr.

Unger agreed again to get the Mr. Unger agreed again to get de-desired information.

Atter Mr. Unger was excused, Mr. Sutro explained that he had not with-drawn from the case, but it was nec-essary for him to go to San Francisco to try a case, and that Judge Van Hoeson would take his place.

Mr. Phillips said he would rest until information demanded was furnished by Information demanded was furnished by the District-Attorney. That was all he would put in.

"The District-Attorney will proceed," remarked the Commissioner.

"The District-Attorney will proceed after he hears all the evidence," answered Mr. McCurdy.

Then he made the astonishing statement that, if no more important evidence against Col. Fellows was produced no witnesses would be called in rebuttal. He positively refused to go on until the complainants had completed. An adjournment was taken until to-morrow.

THAT $5,000 CHECK.

It is said the German-American Five have been investigating the report that Col. Fellows had been paid $5,000 by the Col. Fellows had been paid $5,000 by the Mutual Life Insurance Company for securing the conviction of Dr. Meyer for poisoning Ludwig Brandt. It was even said that the German-Americans had had mysterious interviews with Mr. Julien, who collected evidence in the case for the Insurance Company.

Col. Fellows was asked about the matter this morning. He said:

"Yes, I certainly did receive a check for $5,000 from the Mutual, but it was for insurance on my sister's husband's life, and I received it twenty-two years ago. As for this Meyer story, it is a lie, a first-class lie."

provinces of distributive power give to them the formation of the other house also.

When we recall the harsh criminations, the gross charges of pecuniary corruption and of fraudulent combination or intrigue, disgraceful and dishonorable to the whole body, with which a prolonged Senatorial contest is accompanied, whether in party conference or in the open Assembly, the removal of such a procreant evil should be deemed a prime political nacessity.

It has therefore been said that the Grand Central Railway had chosen a Senator in a certain State; that the Grand Central Bank has chosen another elsewhere, and that the Central Association of Mining and Manufactures has defeated or elected a third. Nothing is intended to be assumed here concerning the truth or faisity of these assertions or accusations.

"But these maleficent charges have an existence. They are disseminated broadcast; they have been for many years in vogue. Their mere existence is a grave mischlef and menace, very inimical to our legitimate influence in the national councils, very destructive of that purpose which the Senate was therein appointed to subserve. The way of this riddance is plain.

"If the choice of the constituent members of this body were left to the mass of voters in the State, these perilous criminations would be infinitely lessened. They would altogether disappear. No reasonable grounds could be given for their support."

CONGRESSMAN-ELECT DEAD.

Andrew J. Campbell, Elected Last Month, Died This Morning. Congressman-elect Andrew J. Campsell, of the Tenth District, died at 2 o'clock this morning, in his apartments

Mr. Campbell had been a sufferer from Bright's disease, but was seriously ill only two days. He was born in Newark, in 1828, and had been, at different times, Alderman, Deputy Tax Commissioner, Third District Civil Court Clerk, Superintendent of the Bureau of Repairs in and Commissioner of the Department of Public Works, and Assemblyman.

Mr. Campbell was a Republican, a member of the Merchants' and Traders' Exchange, and President of the Building Trades Club since its organization. He defeated Gen. Daniel E. Sickles for Congress at the recent election.

The fight in Mr. Campbell's district was very close, and it is probable Gen. Sickles will again try at the special election to regain the seat Mr. Campbell won from him.

George Karsh was the Independent candidate at the last election, running against Sickles and Campbell.

Millionaire Oakes Wants Absolute Separation from His Wife.

Very Damaging Evidence Given Against Mrs. Oakes.

What a Policeman of Astoria Discovered and Told.

Millionaire Francis J. Oakes's suit for absolute divorce from his wife, Mrs. Lucila C. Oakes, was continued before Justice Brown in the Circuit Court, Brooklyn, this morning.

Oakes is a manufacturing chemist in Stone street, New York. The Oakeses were married in 1882, and lived for years in Astoria, L. I. Oakes names Paul Rooney, Jr., of Long Island City, and Lawyer Henry M. Heymann, of New York, as co-respondents.

Mrs. Oakes, a few weeks ago began suit for separation, alleging cruelty. She said her husband caused her to be nearcerated in an asylum for the insanc in Whitestone, L. I., and one in Darien Conn., so as to get rid of her.

Oakes's answer was a counter suit. The feature of the trial this morning was the testimony of Policeman Kelly of Long Island City. Henry Harrison preceded him. Harrison said in the early morning of Oct. 7, 1888, he saw Mrs. Oakes walking on Fulton street, Astoria, with Paul Rooney, jr., whom he regarded as a disreputable man. His attention was particularly called to the couple because of their apparent friend-liness and the difference in their social Policeman Kelly swore he and Officer Borden, of the Long Island City po-lice force, saw Rooney and Mrs. Oakes together at 1.30 o'clock on the morning couple were in the yard of Morris's blacksmith shop, near Fuiton street. He crept quietly into the place and saw Mra. Oakes and Rooney in an old boat. Keily declared he grabbed Rooney by the collar and told him to go home.

Rooney and Mrs. Oakes walked down the street arm in arm. Keily finally took Mrs. Oakes to her home in Ditmara avenue. Mrs. Cakes, Kelly said, told him not to go to near the house, as she did not want the "old man," meaning her husband, to know she was out so late. couple were in the yard of Morris's ing out of business the long-established travers Cordage Company, of fifty years standing in New York. The allegation of the Travers people is that the so-called Americans copied their patents processes, stole all their plans and methods, suborned their working force and cut prices below the cost of production.

In the course of the long trial several of the witnesses for National Cordage acknowledged that they had not told the truth at first.

In his opinion Justice Coxe said:
"Much of the testimony of the defendants to respond, and the successful complainant will immediately force the American Cordage Company to an accounting.

Attorney Arthur V. Briesen says that this judgment, which is given on the entire output of the American Cordage Company since its beginning, will smash the last remnant of the old National Trust, and the whole concern and its allies will go immediately out of business.
